New Weed Warriors

With this line of Weed Warrior tools we have created a high quality range of products. And this is just the beginning, many more products will come in this line. Unique is the combination from the different steel materials that we are using. Because of that we can offer the highest quality products. After we have cut the raw steel material we do the final shape and sharpening. Next step is that the parts are going in the heating process. After the fire has brought the blades to 1000 degrees celsius our craftsman dip them very slowly in freezing cold water. This hardening process is what makes the difference that you feel when using our products. The tubular steel is selected from the best Dutch suppliers and on top it is finished with a comfortable soft handgrip. All made in Netherlands.
